Lista di Social Search Engine
(lista riveduta da "Delizad – Realizzazione Siti Web")

anoox.com – Search engine where people people's votes help determine the results.

ChaCha – Search engine providing search results from multiple search engines selected by users. Chacha provides live assistance to help guide users search.

eurekster.com – Allow users to add a swicki (a search engine) to their website or blog. Swicki enables users to find content within a website and provides links to similar content.

Gravee – A combination of social bookmarking, tagging and voting. It personalizes search preferences based on your individual interests.

iRazoo – Allows registered users to provide ratings for each search results and earn points.

Jookster.com – Scours social sites to generate results for web sites, people, videos, and pictures.

Mahalo – Building on the idea of Wikipedia, Mahalo provides search results edited and submitted users and paid guides.

mysidekick – A human powered search engine that allows people to find and submit web pages that are then automatically tagged with terms used during the search session.

Pipl – People search engine the looks at social networking profiles, public records, and the Web to find details about individuals.

PreFound.com – A search engine which finds information provided by its user groups.

rel8r.com – Pulls tag data from user-generated content web sites to organize search results.

Wikia – Based on the concept of Wikipedia, allows users to edit the search results.

Sproose – A search engine that organizes results based on the number of votes a link has received for a specific search term.

Tezaa – An engine where users ask for opinions and get answers.

Tinfinger.com – Allows you to search for people in social networking profiles, news headlines, and pictures.

xing.com – Search engine focused on finding information about professionals.

yoName.com – Searches multiple social networking profiles and blogs.

Yoople.net – Allows you to drag and drop search results in your preferred order, which in turn updates the listings for users.

Zudos.com – Search for opinions about specific topics.

Zitgist.com – Allows users to search through entering multiple terms that act as filters, versus one long string of keywords.

ex.plode.us – Search for individuals on multiple social networks.

InfoSpace – Search engine for comprehensive information for people living in the US.

The Internet Address Book – Search for names of people and find results from social networks, registered Internet Address Book users, and various search engines.

lostpeople.com – Locate your long lost buddies, classmates and family members.

naymz.com – A search engine where people can find information by searching for user names.

namesdatabase.com – A popular search engine for finding lost friends or former classmates.

people.yahoo.com – Yahoo's people search engine, pulls data from white/yellow pages.

PeopleFinders.com – A search engine that allows you to search for people in public records and business records, among other things.

PeekYou.com – A search engine for locating individuals that also allows users to contribute information to results.

Socialgrapes.com – Allows you to search for people on multiple social networks by entering criteria such as age, location, and interests.

Spock – A people search engine that scours social networking profiles and also allows users to add information to the results.

Switchboard.com – A white pages type site for locating people's contact information.

usa-people-search.com – Comprehensive listing of US residents. Results include address details, telephone number, criminal records etc.

wink.com – People search engine that scours social networking sites to provide information about individuals.

Ziggs.com – A social networking and search community targeted at professionals.

Ziki.com – Searches the Web to provide the most relevant links for individuals.

ZabaSearch – Searches the Web and public records for information about people.

Zoominfo.com – A search engine for professional information about people.

192.com – A powerful human search engine for UK users with record of over 600 million users and businesses.